

Where Can You Hunt?

Complete the table below. "Hunting" is accepted to mean entering an area with a firearm, bow, or crossbow. Crossing land with the ability to hunt is considered the same as hunting (you don't have to be caught in the act of shooting to be considered hunting).

Location	YES	NO	With Permission
Crown Land
Vacant Crown Land
Occupied Crown Land (by special disposition)
Mineral Surface Lease
License of Occupation
Timber lease
Grazing Lease - Grasslands
Grazing Lease - Forest
Grazing Permit
Private Land
Vacant Private Land
Occupied Private Land
A. Land under cultivation or enclosed by a fence (any kind), on the same section of land as the residence
B. Any land within 1.6 Km of the section in A (above)
Unoccupied Private land
Unoccupied Private (or Leased) Land with cultivation, fencing, natural boundaries, or other means of keeping people out or animals on the property
Private or leased land with "No Hunting" signs Private or leased land with "No Trespassing" sign

Can you hunt or shoot:
On land about which you are not certain Across or along a river, canal, slough, etc.
Within 183 meters of an occupied building more than half-hour after sunset or half-hour before sunrise without parental supervision if you are under 18 from, along, or across a highway or maintained road with a silencer or suppressor with exploding arrowheads with metal jacketed ammunition from a vehicle (car, truck, quad, boat, aircraft, etc.)

--	--	--	--